Men's Basketball Blog

November 15, 2016

This past week for Cedarville men's basketball didn't go exactly how we wanted it to go, but it showed us just how good we could be this season. Our first game was against Truman State who is a 20-win team from one of the best conferences in the nation (GLVC), and is also a team that went to the regional final last year. We knew going into that game that it wouldn't be easy, but from all the hard work every single player on our team put in over the summer everybody was ready to play. Not to mention it was the first game of the year, so the team knew that the stands would be full, and the atmosphere would be amazing as it is every year for the first game. When the game started we came out, and immediately behind our crowd went on a 9-0 run (when a team goes on a scoring streak). We even got to witness a nice put back dunk from Easton (AKA E, AKA Matt), which caused Truman State to call the first timeout. In basketball you never want to have to call the first timeout, especially before the first media timeout because that means the other team came out more intense and ready to play. After that it was a back and forth game, which saw many lead changes, and small runs made by each team. The game just simply came down to a couple missed shots and rebounds. We ended up losing, but it was honestly a situation where we realized how much potential this team has to be a great team. We didn't play our best game, which is expected being that it was the first game of the year, but we were still right there at the end with a very good team in Truman State. It was nice to witness the improvement of our team just one game into the season compared to last year's season. I don't know if we would have been able to hang with this team in our first game of last year's season, but this year we can and I believe if we see this team down the road we will win.

Our next game was against Maryville, and Coach Estep (AKA Eazy E) challenged our team to improve on certain aspects of the Truman State that we struggled in and we responded. Even if you are not an athlete you know how it feels if you are doing something for your parents or a friend and you don't preform as well as you should. You can really tell the type of person you are by the way you respond to not doing well, and being challenged by that person. Well our team definitely responded and our players off the bench had the biggest response. Colton Linkous, Patrick Bain (AKA P bizzle), Evan Kraatz, Kwenton Scott (AKA Q, My roommate), and Joey Morlan (AKA Joey Buckets) all played great games, and really lifted our team up to our first win of the year. It was really nice to see these players in particular play well because they sometimes don't get as much recognition as they should, but are a huge key to our team success. We ended up pulling away from Maryville towards the end of the first half, and never looked back. This past weekend really got me excited to see where our team will be in a month or so because I believe it will be something special to watch.

We have two games this week. Our first game is home Thursday night (start time 7:30 p.m.) against Walsh University, and our second game is an away game Saturday at Northwood University (start time is 3:00 p.m.). Away games can still be watched online if you can't make it out. We appreciate all support even if you can't make it to the game. I would like to give a big shoutout to the parents, students, and supporters who were able to come to the games this weekend. We greatly appreciate the support, and hope to see you all at more games.
